

Quail Run Golf Course Announces Sustainability Commitment with New Irrigation System and Xeriscaping Initiatives

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

March 01, 2024

Santa Fe, NM (March 1, 2024) – Quail Run, a premier golf destination situated within a 103-acre residential community in Santa Fe, New Mexico, announces a new project to showcase its dedication to environmental responsibility through significant water conservation efforts. Recognizing the importance of sustainability, Quail Run has invested over $850,000 in a state-of-the-art irrigation system and strategically incorporated xeriscaping practices throughout the course and residential areas.

Sustainable Golf Through Technology and Design:

The new irrigation system features targeted watering methods, utilizing smaller, efficient heads that deliver water precisely, and significantly reducing overall water consumption. This investment in efficiency ensures optimal playing conditions for golfers while minimizing environmental impact.

Furthermore, Quail Run is strategically replacing approximately half an acre of non-essential turf grass with native, drought-resistant grasses by increased use of xeriscaping techniques. This conserves water and also enhances the natural beauty of the course, supporting a vibrant and sustainable landscape.

Beyond the Greens:

Quail Run's dedication to sustainability extends beyond the golf course to the total 103-acre residential property. Xeriscaping practices are also being implemented in residential areas, implementing responsible water conservation throughout the entire community.

Maintaining Audubon Sanctuary Certification:

In addition to minimizing water usage, Quail Run retains its certification as an Audubon Cooperative Sanctuary. This program recognizes organizations committed to environmental stewardship, and Quail Run's comprehensive environmental management program exemplifies this dedication.

A Haven for Birds:

Quail Run's commitment to wildlife is evident in its successful Bird House Project. Throughout 2023 Quail Run birders spotted over 100 documented bird species on the property. This diverse and thriving habitat has earned Quail Run recognition as a "Hot Spot" on ebird.org, highlighting its exceptional contribution to bird conservation.
